The Parable of the Sower

Matthew 13:3b-9

“...A farmer went out to sow his seed. As he was scattering the seed, some fell alongside the path, and the birds came and ate it up. Some fell on rocky places, where it did not have much soil; and it sprang up quickly, since the soil was not deep. But when the sun arose, it was scorched, and because it had no root, it withered. Some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up with it and choked it. But some fell on good soil and produced a crop: a hundred, sixty or thirty times what was sown.”

Still other seed fell on good soil, where it produced a good crop.
